

Is Hospice the Answer?

- Has your loved one been told by the doctor that they have a limited life expectancy?
- Has your loved one started feeling weaker and is sleeping more?
- Has your loved one lost weight in the past six months?
- Is your loved one needing help with:
 - Eating
 - Dressing
 - Bathing
 - Getting out of bed
 - Walking
- Has your loved one fallen several times over the past six months?
- Is your loved one taking more medication to decrease pain?
- Is your loved one having an increase in shortness of breath?
- Has your loved one been taken to the emergency room several times in the past six months?
- Is your loved one spending more time in a chair or in bed?

If you answered yes to four or more of these questions, then your loved one may be eligible for hospice care. Hospice care is not just for cancer patients. Services are provided for patients with a variety of end stage diseases including lung, heart, liver and kidney diseases, Lou Gehrig's, failure to thrive and others.
